THE TENTH, the December or Christmas number of "The Canadian Magazine," fully justifies the reputation which this most creditable national monthly has achieved. The articles are timely, bright and most entertaining; the fiction, which like several of the articles, is well illustrated, is of superior merit, and the poetry likewise equals the best in the magazines of this continent. "Le Quete de L'Enfant Jesus" is a well-written, characteristic Quebec story. "Down the Yukon and Up the Mackenzie," by Wm. Ogilvie, F. R. G. S., is a most entertaining illustrated instalment of the 3,200 miles journey of that celebrated explorer. W. H. Blake's "Humors of Bench and Bar," is full of racy and delicate fun. "Salmon Fishing and Canning on the Fraser," by Rev. H. H. Gowen, is a most entertaining illustrated contribution from the Pacific Province. W. T. Stead, the great London Reviewer, talks in an interesting strain on the "Borderland" of Telepathy. Radford tells of Art at the World's Fair." Lieut-Col. O'Brien writes very suggestively on "Our Militia," and J. S. Ewart, Q. C., vigorously on the Manitoba School Question. J. C. Hopkins' "Lord and Lady Aberdeen," is timely, while the Gable Ends embrace items of decided merit. Altogether the number is a credit to Canada. Published by the Ontario Publishing Co., Ltd., $2.50 per annum. For a Christmas gift to a friend a year's subscription to the Magazine would be most appropriate.

MRS. G. R. F. KIRKPATRICK is recovering from a severe attack of bronchitis.

ISAAC HARVEY, a young man of 23 years, who arrived from the Orkney Islands last spring, died of inflammation of the lungs on Tuesday morning, December 12th. He was a blacksmith by trade and was in the employ of Walter & Crockart, Edmonton ferry landing, South side, up to the time of his illness. He had no relatives in this country. The funeral took place on Wednesday, December 13th, to the Edmonton cemetery. Rev. D. G. McQueen, conducted the funeral services.

THE NOVEMBER number of the Western World is to hand and is an exceptionally good number. It has an excellent and beautifully illustrated article on the Kamloops district of British Columbia, a large number of reports on the Northwest from United States delegates, and a comprehensive and lucid article on the Northwest mounted police from Scribner's Magazine, the illustrations by Frederick Remington. The article on the mounted police is worth more than the year's subscription to the World to every one connected with or interested in the force. The illustrations are of equal excellence with those appearing in Scribner's. As a sample of excellent printing as well as a compendium of information useful to settlers the Western World is unexcelled.

A TELEGRAM was received on Tuesday from Regina stating that the appealed case of Bonin vs Robertson had been decided by the full court at Regina in favor of the appellant Robertson with costs, thereby reversing the judgment given by judge Rouleau at Edmonton. The case was that of seizure by the defendant Robertson of a span of horses from the plaintiff Bonin. The horses were brought from Dakota by Theo. Mallette. They were under a chattel mortgage given in Dakota, and were sold by Mallette to Bonin after their arrival in Edmonton. The seizure was made on behalf of the mortgagees in Dakota, and was brought by Bonin at the May court and was argued by S. S. Taylor for the plaintiff and N. D. Beck for the defendant. Judgment was delivered at the October sittings of the court by Judge Rouleau in favor of Bonin for $175, damages for improper seizure and costs. The point was whether the mortgage made in Dakota was valid in the Territories against Bonin who was admittedly a bona fide purchaser, for value, without notice of the mortgage. The case was argued before the full court at Regina by D. L. Scott for the appellant and S. S. Taylor for the plaintiff Bonin. It appears that the difference of opinion as to the right of seizure arose from a failure to provide in the Northwest ordinance that all chattel mortgages to have effect in the Territories must be registered in the Territories—the ordinance only providing that mortgages made in the Territories required registration here. That defect was remedied at last session of the assembly, and all chattel mortgages must now be registered.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NORTHWEST TERRITORIES:

TO-WIT:

By virtue of a writ of execution, issued out of the Supreme Court of the Northwest Territories, N. W. T., A. G. Justice, District at the suit of Rodriguez A. M. and others, I do hereby direct against the Lands of Seyth Parker, I do seize and sell into execution the following lands, whereat amounts:

The southeast one-quarter of section No. eighteen, township thirty-nine, range twenty-six, west of the fourth principal meridian, in the District of Alberta, Canada, containing one hundred and sixty acres, the same, more or less; which I shall expose for sale on Saturday, the Sixteenth day of December, 1893, at Sheriff's office, Edmonton, Alberta, N. W. T., and to have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

And whereas it is expedient to provide for the repayment of the said principal sum by the creation of an equal yearly sinking fund.

And whereas the total amount which will be required to be raised annually by a special rate for raising the said debt of $6,070, by means of a sinking fund of $100.00, and the interest thereon as aforesaid is $75.00.

And whereas the annual special rate on the ratable property in the Municipality according to the last revised assessment roll required as being sufficient to pay the said interest and to create the said equal yearly sinking fund for the paying of the principal is eight-five per cent.

Therefore the Mayor and Council of the Municipality of the town of Edmonton in council assembled enact as follows:

(1) This By-Law is to take effect on the first day of November, 1893.

(2) For the purpose of paying the amount which shall be required to be raised annually for paying the said interest and creating an equal yearly sinking fund to be set apart for the payment of the principal sum, a special rate of eight-five per cent of one-hundredth of a mill on the dollar, over and above all other rates and taxes shall be levied (in the same manner and at the same times as the general municipal taxes) upon the whole ratable property in the Municipality annually for the period of 10 years from the said first day of November, 1893, to the period during which the said debentures will run.

CIVIC MATTERS.

The election of a mayor and council to manage the municipal affairs of the town for the ensuing year will soon be in order, and every ratepayer should consider the personal interest he has in the selection of competent men who will be likely to pursue a sound and progressive policy such as will be for the general welfare and through that to the benefit of the individual; rather than a policy that will place the profit of the individual before the prosperity of the community. This is essentially a commercial town. Only as a centre of trade has it ever existed or does it now exist. If the trade of the country cannot be kept here the town will cease to be. Because it was and is a centre of trade it has become a centre of settlement, the seat of official and judicial administration, the objective point of the railway. To preserve and improve its present commercial position to the greatest possible extent should be the first and greatest care of its town council. If this is the case, and it must be admitted to be, only men who can be depended upon to place this consideration first as the object of their efforts, should be elected. The bridge and railway questions are the ones most intimately connected with the commercial advancement of the place, and will in the ordinary course of events have to be dealt with by the council for the coming year. On the way these questions are handled will depend to a very great extent the future of the place. There are two dangers in dealing with these questions, the one that we may be deprived of the commercial supremacy which we now possess, by a failure to handle these matters properly, and the other that they may be so handled as to sink the town so deeply in debt as to destroy its commercial supremacy. To secure all possible benefits and avoid possible disasters in this connection will require a council of sterling honesty, of good business ability and having sound business principles. The best men that can be found in Edmonton are not too good to fill the position properly, and the interest of every ratepayer is sufficiently great to warrant him in using every means to place the very best men in the responsible positions on the council board. The position of councillor is burdensome without being profitable directly, but in this case any man who has a considerable financial interest in the town should feel it to be a duty to himself as well as to his fellow citizens to give his best services as a member of the council if the circumstances require. However the possible candidates may feel, it is the duty of the ratepayers to exert themselves to see that proper men having a proper policy are placed in the council. Not to wait until their vote is canvassed by a more or less worthy aspirant, and perhaps give it against a more suitable man simply because he had not asked for it.

If the members of the retiring council were all likely to stand for re-election probably a better choice could not be made than to return them again, but it is understood that some of them do not intend to offer, in which case new men must be selected. It is to be regretted that Mayor McCauley has decided, for business reasons, not to be a candidate at the forthcoming election. He has rendered faithful service during the past two years, has worked hard, and honestly and long and successfully for the interests of the town and would no doubt be honored by the confidence of the electors if he should again come forward. There is no doubt that his successor should be chosen from amongst those who have already served on the council, on account of the advantage which an ex-councillor would have in knowing the routine of town business over one who was not so well acquainted with it. Besides it is only fair that a man who has served faithfully in the position of councillor should be promoted to the still more honorable office of mayor in recognition of his services if nothing else, and as an encouragement to other councillors to do their duty. If this is the correct principle councillor McDougall, who was returned at the head of the poll of councillors at last election and whose qualifications for the position are undoubtedly, might well be chosen to succeed Mayor McCauley. Mr. McDougall is a pioneer of Edmonton, his interests are large and his business ability undoubted. If he could be prevailed upon to stand there is very little doubt that he would be elected.

While the BULLETIN has not been able to agree with the retiring council in every particular it believes that without exception they have performed their duties faithfully and with an eye to the public interest as they understood it. Large expenditures have been incurred for fire protection, and while in the opinion of this journal the expenditure was premature, the council was sustained almost unanimously by the people and as a result we have a fire protective service not excelled west of Brandon. There have been large extensions of the sidewalks of the town until now the needs of the community are fairly well supplied. Now that these essentials are provided for it is in order to economize in regard to further expenditures in these directions and bend all our energies to secure our commercial position by means of a bridge and direct railway connections or electric railway. Although we have done very well in the past two years since the railway has been built, the increase of traffic and business generally have given increasing emphasis to the disadvantages which have yet to be overcome before we can say that our prosperity rests on a sure foundation. Local expenditures and local improvements are all very well but unless business can be held and increased they cut but a poor figure. It is the business that makes the town not the local improvements, or the high taxes which pay for them. Improvements are only really valuable in so far as they will facilitate and increase business, and should be gone into with that view. Of course the opportunity to add manufacturing to trade exists here and should be considered carefully, but the first consideration to this end as well as in the case of business, is better railway facilities without which we cannot hope for the establishment of manufacturing industries in our midst. We want the bridge, and either direct railway connection or the electric railway, and without the town being swamped to pay for them. To get them on these terms should be the work of next year's council. If the electors will keep these points before their minds until election day there is no doubt that a good council will be chosen.

PLATINUM.

Although the existence of platinum in the Saskatchewan has been known ever since the gold in the river was discovered no effort has been made either at mining it systematically or at finding out the extent to which it existed. In earlier days, when gold was traded for goods instead of being sold for cash as at present, and when every trader was his own expert, it was considered quite sharp practice to mix as much platinum in the gold amalgam as possible on the principle that as the platinum weighed more and was worth less than gold the deal was profitable for the miner. In these days the chance of working off platinum for gold has faded, and it is very seldom attempted. At present platinum is worth more than gold, and is steadily rising in price on account of the demand for it for electrical purposes and from the fact that no new sources of supply have been discovered. Under these circumstances it is well worth considering if the mining of platinum on the Saskatchewan might not be made as profitable as that of gold or even more profitable. The platinum is found in the black sand of the gravel bars in conjunction with gold. It is in fine particles like the gold, but being a heavier metal its distribution is not exactly the same as that of the gold. A bar that is rich in gold may not be rich in platinum and a bar may be rich in platinum but have very little gold. Very little attention would be paid to such a bar by a gold miner and consequently the extent and value of the platinum deposits remain entirely unknown or even unguessed at. Another difficulty that has stood in the way of the gold miners working for platinum is that it will not amalgamate with quicksilver as the gold does and consequently it is more difficult to secure, the dust having to be gathered entirely by the slow process of panning out. If the gold found had to be treated in the same way the present washings would hardly pay, and it may be that platinum mining would not pay either unless some more expeditious means of collecting the particles could be found out. The main facts—that platinum is a very valuable metal and that considerable quantities of it certainly exist in the Saskatchewan—should be sufficient to set on foot a most earnest search for the mineral itself and also for means whereby it can be cheaply mined.

BLACKLEG.

Dr. McEachren, chief veterinary inspector for the Dominion, gives the following information regarding the dreaded cattle disease "blackleg." "black quarter," is one very difficult to deal with, being a blood disease due to a microbe "bacillus anthracis," the spores of which are taken up in the food or water emanating from the carcass of animals cured perhaps many years previously. Hence difficult to trace.

It is peculiar in as much as it appears suddenly in a district, and often disappears with equal suddenness, reappearing at irregular intervals of several years. On many occasions we have been able to discover the source of infection in places where graves of dead animals have contaminated springs or the luxuriant growths of grass which cover them.

In all cases such should be searched for and the stock prevented from approaching them. It appears to attack young stock when thriving, and usually the best in the herd. Such stock during the prevalence of the disease in the district ought to have reduced diet to check rapid fattening and should have exercise in the open air. It is a common custom to insert setons in the dewlap, the benefit from which is more imaginary than real.

All carcasses should be burned, or buried deeply into lime, in positions which would not contaminate springs, streams or sloughs.

Rock salt should be given in troughs in the pasture.

Medical treatment is useless, as the disease runs its course often within a few hours.

In the electoral districts of Banff, Calgary, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and MacLeod, which include the ranching country, a bounty of $5.00 per head will be paid for the destruction of wolves. The wolves must be killed between December 1st, 1893 and January 31st, 1894.

Moosomin Spectator: Mr. Justice Richardson has recently decided that a Fort Qu'Appelle hotel keeper, holding a license granted under the liquor ordinance, could not legally be required to pay a further license fee to the municipality.

The judge in giving his decision pointed out that under the Northwest Territories act, the legislative assembly had power to make ordinances in relation to tavern and other licenses in order to raise a revenue for (1) territorial, or (2) municipal purposes; that the assembly, through the municipal ordinance, had empowered municipal councils to collect license fees from hotel keepers; that through the liquor license ordinance the assembly had also made provision for collecting license fees from hotels for territorial purposes; that from the use of the word "or," which means one or the other, not both, in the Dominion act, it was his opinion that it was not intended that license fees should be imposed for raising revenue for territorial and also municipal purposes simultaneously, the power being limited to one or the other; and that therefore, as the assembly had already imposed a license fee for territorial revenue purposes, it necessarily followed that during the currency of a license granted under the ordinance the licensee could not legally be required to pay a further fee for municipal revenue purposes, and therefore such a by-law enacting such fee was, as regarded the appellant, ultra vires. The J.P.'s conviction was therefore quashed, with costs on the municipality.

The Qu'Appelle Progress says: "Enquiries amongst clergy, doctors and officers of Northwest mounted police, as far as the white inhabitants are concerned, and the Indian agents as regards the noble red men, will elicit the fact that since the passing of the liquor ordinance in the Territories there has been a great deal less drunkenness than under the old permit system, and though there may be more liquor consumed, yet it is taken in a reasonable and proper manner, and the scenes that were witnessed on the broaching of a 'keg of permit' are happily things of the past." The Progress will publish the names of the clergymen, doctors, officers of police and Indian agents who are willing to subscribe to its assertion before it will be generally believed.

Tom Purcell shot and killed his partner Dave Akers recently on account of a dispute about a yearling steer. They were ranch men near Lethbridge and a coroner's jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter against Purcell.

Two men were fined $1.00 and $5.00 each in Calgary recently for disturbing a Salvation army meeting. They have entered an action for assault against certain members of the army.

A North Dakota paper says: It is hinted by some of the papers of the state that some of the state institutions must be closed for lack of funds. The faculties of various educational institutions have not been receiving anything on their salaries now for several months. It will be a sad misfortune to our state if all her educational institutions have to be temporarily closed. It may be that she has too many for her present demands, but some of them at least are needed. It is hoped that the financial distress will blow over.
